Appointment-Only COVID-19 Testing at MVA VEIP Sites

Walk-ins Are Not Accepted

To qualify for testing at a Motor Vehicle Administration Vehicle Emissions Inspection Program (VEIP) site, individuals must:

- Meet testing criteria as determined by a licensed health care provider
- Obtain an order for testing from a health care provider
- Register online and make an appointment at a test site

You can only visit and receive a test at an MVA VEIP site with an order from a health care provider. Once at the site:

- Remain in vehicles with the windows rolled up until it is time to receive your test
- Testing requires a clinician to insert a single long Q-tip into the back of a person's nostril for several seconds
- Most individuals experience minor discomfort at most
- All tested individuals will receive information with further instructions at the test site and should continue to self-isolate at home while waiting for results, which should be available within about seven days
- If symptoms worsen, call a health care provider immediately
- If a test comes back positive, patients must self-isolate for at least seven days from when their symptoms started or three days from the last day of a fever, whichever is longer.
